WORLD ORAL LITERATURE PROJECT

OpenBook
Publishers

Open Book Publishers are proud to produce the World Oral Literature series in partnership with the World Oral Literature Project, directed by Professor Mark Turin at the University of British Columbia. Including some of our most-read titles, this series exists to preserve and promote the oral literatures of indigenous people by publishing materials on endangered traditions in innovative ways. These books allow the reader to see and hear as well.

Lying at the intersection of anthropology and linguistics, the study of oral genres is an exciting and developing field, but one with few publishing outlets. We offer researchers the opportunity to present recordings of the oral literature they discuss within the book, preserving the richness and contextual meaning of oral narratives and allowing their representation and reuse. Striking and original, this series makes dissemination of such unique literary traditions possible for the first time.

As with all books published by OBP, the World Oral Literature Series is available in multiple formats including a free HTML edition and a free PDF download, together with two ebook formats (epub and mobi), paperback and hardback editions. We have successfully harnessed the innovative crowd-sourcing project unglue.it to fund free digital editions for Ruth Finnegan's Oral Literature in Africa and Janet Hujon's translation of Soso Tham's poetry, Tales of Darkness and Light: The Old Days of the Khasis.

If you have any questions about the World Oral Literature Series, or would like to submit a manuscript for consideration, please contact OBP's Managing Director, Dr Alessandra Tosi (a.tosi@openbookpublishers.com) or visit us at www.openbookpublishers.com.
