Great rift finds no solace in tears

The Maoist representatives replied to the queries of participants. Nepali Congress Arjun Pratap Singh identified. Spokesman of the party and human rights activist France, 20 Nepali participants including two leaders of the CPN-UML were there to distribute it. The Maoist movement seems to have reached a climax. The Maoists have stated that the ceasefire to become lasting peace and stability is not possible without any political process. The Maoists have promised to end their armed struggle and participate in the parliamentary process. The Maoists have also stated that the armed struggle will continue if the political process is not possible.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.

The Maoists have also stated that the political process is not possible without the inclusion of all political parties and the establishment of a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that excludes them. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system. The Maoists have stated that they will not participate in any political process that is not based on a democratic system.